

DOUBT BREWERY FIGHT BY THOSE OUT OF CONTROL

Present Officers and Management Say Election Was Valid Enough

As far as St. C. Sayres, secretary and manager, and some other officers and directors of the Honolulu Brewing and Malting Company are concerned, the issue at the recent annual meeting, when practically all of the old officers were displaced, is closed and, as one official puts it, there is "nothing before the court."

Charges said to have been made by Fred Harrison, a former director, of illegality in the voting for new officers, and of flaws in the brewery's new charter, are denied by others today.

One stockholder declares, "Nearly all of the proxies at the meeting were old ones, and there was nothing done that was not above board. The fact that Mr. Schuman was going to resign as president was known to all of us ahead of time. We wanted him to continue in the office, but he could not see it that way. As to the election being invalid, that's not correct. Mr. Harrison presided at the meeting as vice-president."

This stockholder went on to say that the policy of the new brewery officials is "clean business administration." He added that there is absolutely no reason why the corporation cannot be run with that idea in view, and that there is absolutely no question, as far as he knows, as to the legality of the brewery's new charter.

Constitution Not Likely. One of those directors who was ousted says that undoubtedly there will be no contest as regards the election. While there might have been some irregularities in the proxies voted, he adds, still they are not sufficient to warrant carrying the matter further.

NOBLES COMING WITH SPLENDOR ON HILL LINER

Prospect is That From 150 to 175 Will Be on Ship on March 24

With a cover design showing the nobles mounted on camels riding ashore from the liner's hold, their destination the burning slopes of Kilaua, the first copies of the folder advertising the Great Northern Shriners' excursion-de-luxe to Honolulu and return March 24-April 4, reached here today on the Hill liner. The folder is published by authority of Casimir J. Wood, potentate of Aloha Temple, San Francisco, and invites "all good nobles of the Mystic Shrine and their ladies" to join the caravan.

"The Shriners of Aloha Temple, Honolulu," says the folder, "under the leadership of Potentate 'Genial' Tom Wall and Imperial Ceremonial Master 'Sunny Jim' McCandless, will meet the party at Hilo, guide them to the volcano and act as escort to Honolulu. With these justly popular and eccentric nobles in command you will get all that's coming."

Purser John S. Ford said today bookings of Shriners for the trip are already heavy, and that from 150 to 175 will accompany Imperial Potentate J. Putnam Stevens, who with the imperial divan, will officially visit and inspect Aloha Temple.

CLUE MAY BRING ABOUT ARREST OF ECTOR'S SLAYER

Information that the authorities have at last got hold of a slender thread of a clue which they hope will lead finally to the arrest of the murderer of Pvt. Jesse Ector, Company H, 25th Infantry, who was found murdered on the Kolo Kolo road, near Schofield Barracks Friday night, reached here today.

What the clue is could not be ascertained, but it was stated by Deputy Sheriff H. H. Palmer of Waiwala that officers were working on lines which they hope will lead to solution of the mystery.

Very little developed at the coroner's inquest yesterday beyond facts already made public as to the finding of Ector's body. Ector will be buried at his home in Marshall, Texas, the body going back on the next transport.

At the request of Chairman Charles R. Forbes, who returned this morning from his trip to the mainland, the meeting of the public utilities commission was postponed from 2 o'clock today to the same time tomorrow. A meeting of the harbor board, of which Mr. Forbes is also chairman, is set for 1:30 o'clock tomorrow.

YOUNG JAPANESE WOMAN RUN DOWN BY AUTO BETTER

That Momoyo Okawa, the young Japanese woman run over Saturday on King street by Capt. James F. Johnston's auto, driven by Pvt. Adcock, has every chance to live was the information from the department hospital at Fort Shafter today. The internal injuries have proved to be less serious than at first appeared, and there is no danger from the broken legs, which have been set.

Medical attention is being given the woman without charge, and Capt. Johnston has undertaken to see that she is well cared for.

No arrest was made after the accident. The local police appear to have practically ignored the affair.

CLAIM FORMER POSTAL CLERK STOLE $1668

Charging him with having embezzled postal funds in the sum of $1668, the federal grand jury has returned an indictment against Y. S. Leong, former clerk in charge of the postoffice at Heala, Windward Oahu. According to information which has been received by Marshal J. J. Smiddy, the former clerk has left the territory and has gone, it is believed, to the Orient.

WEATHER DIFFERENT FROM MICHIGAN, SAYS COLLEGE PRESIDENT

Coming here to visit in Honolulu for six or seven weeks, President Joseph W. Mauck of Hillsdale College, Michigan, arrived this morning on the Great Northern, accompanied by his family.

"This is my first visit to Honolulu and I must say the climate here is a great deal different from that which we have been experiencing in Michigan recently," he said.

Dr. Mauck was met at Pier 6 by a number of friends and alumni of the college, of which he has been president since 1902. He is a former president of the University of South Dakota.

BEST FISHING IN WORLD TO BE HAD HERE, SAYS JUMP

Famous Angler, Holder of the World's Yellow-fin Tuna Record, Makes Big Catch

"Hawaii is the leading game fish center of the world."

This was the statement made today by James W. Jump, of Los Angeles, who returned yesterday from Maui, where he had been fishing off the island of Molokini. In less than two hours Mr. Jump caught two tuna, weighing 72 and 61 pounds; two on, weighing 62 and 40 pounds; and one dolphin.

Day after day of splendid sport is reported by those in the party, Mr. Jump, F. K. Burnham and H. Gooding Field, who used Harry Baldwin's launch for their excursions to different fishing grounds. Yesterday was a banner day, more than 350 pounds of yellow-fin tuna being landed in three and a half hours.

Mr. Field this morning rode through the city in an automobile in which he posed two monster fish, both prized tuna, which together weighed 132 pounds, and the others brought back similar trophies.

Mr. Jump holds the world's record for catching yellow-fin tuna. At Catalina one day, the noted angler landed 29 of these fish with light tackle. The statement of the wealth of fish in Hawaiian waters is by an authority, as Mr. Jump has been an active fisherman for more than 20 years. He moved to Southern California to fish, and has lived there ever since. His home was formerly in St. Louis.

"I do not know whether you appreciate the value that will come from giving publicity to your fishing, but in my many years' experience I have found that fishing has been a big boost for bringing wealthy tourists," said Mr. Jump. "Catalina has become a popular place for tourists because there are plenty of fish there, but even Catalina does not begin to come up to Hawaii in that respect."

"What Hawaii needs is boats. With plenty of boats here, I am confident that these islands will become the great center of the sport. Sportsmen from all over the world come to Catalina every year to fish. We have members of our clubs there from France, England, Australia, and all other countries of the globe. One man comes there every year from British East India. Good fishing will bring the wealthy tourist, and boats are necessary."

"As an example of the necessity of boats of a type that will be of use to the angler, I might state that Catalina has hundreds of these boats. There are 60 boats for fishing that may be hired, and perhaps 150 boats are owned by individuals belonging to the many clubs. The Los Angeles Motor Boat Club has 23 boats at the present time."

"People who love to fish will go to any end to get the fishing. As a rule they want the best. When I talked with one of the leading anglers who had visited Hawaii, he stated that there were plenty of fish here, but no boats of the type necessary to land the fish. I then made arrangements to bring my own boat, but was unable to have it brought here on account of the weight, as it is a 12-ton boat."

"I expect to bring the boat with me on the next trip, and although it will cost me about $700 to bring it over and back, the sport will be worth it. I am sure that if there were many boats, like we have in Catalina, in Honolulu the sportsmen would flock here in numbers. In all my travels I have never found a place where one could catch such a variety of fish in one spot."

Many Move to Hawaii.

"To give you an idea of how the sportsman, and there are thousands of them in the United States today, craves for fishing, I will cite my own case. I left St. Louis a number of years ago to spend a few weeks in fishing in California. I found such good sport there that I decided to move to California. I went to California and made my home there, not because of the climate but because I could spend my time fishing. I may decide to move to Hawaii in the future. This is surely a fisherman's paradise."

"I can say that Hawaii has larger fish than they have in Catalina. The largest fish caught at Avalon is 251 pounds for a tuna and 355 pounds for a swordfish. You can find 285 pound tuna in the market here. This is another point that will help in bringing the sportsman here for a stay."

"Regarding tackle used here, I find that there is a great amount of discussion on this subject. I brought my sled and kite with me, and although these are new to Hawaii in a sense, I have found them to be of much use to me in landing the fighting fish. When you let your kite drop into a school of tuna many yards away, you have the satisfaction of knowing that there is some fun ahead for you."

Seek Tuna Near Hawaii.

"Not all the tuna are off the island of Maui. I am going to fish around Oahu for a few days, and I expect to bring in some good specimens of the game fish. There is no doubt that the fish are to be found not so far away, and although many of the fishermen state that the tuna can only be found many miles from here, I am confident that a short journey will bring results."

"I have noticed that the price of fish is very high here. I cannot understand why this should be so, with so many fish around the islands. The wholesale price of fish in Honolulu is much higher than the retail price in Los Angeles. There must be some reason for the high price."

Mr. Jump with F. K. Burnham and H. Gooding Field has been on Maui for one week. Mr. Burnham, as well as Mr. Jump, is well known as an angler, and has a number of good catches to his credit. Both sportsmen are earnest in the statement that Hawaii is destined to be the leading game fish center of the world.

Fish Are Fighters.
"I am more than pleased with the results of the trip," said Mr. Burnham today at the Moana Hotel. "We caught lots of fish and they are fighters. There is no question that these are wonderful waters for game-fish."

Though the party did not land any it is known that the famous blue-fin tuna, so prized at Catalina, are also to be caught in Hawaiian waters.

The only drawback to the sport was the occasional prevalence of sharks. Day before yesterday two big fish were being hauled in, and when one was about 100 feet and the other 30 feet from the launch, sharks took all of each catch except the head.
